Denver Fringe Festival is June 24-27th

Come play! New audience-centric work debuts next week at Denver Fringe Festival

Immersive Denver is proud to be a supporting partner of the Denver Fringe Festival, now in its second (and first live) year. Help make this an annual signature extravaganza for our community!

Alongside a full lineup of comedy, theatre, circus performance, and more, experience these interactive and experiential highlights at this year's Denver Fringe:

- The 5 Points Crimes is an immersive theatre experience and interactive scavenger hunt created and produced by local artist James Lopez that engages the audience members to solve a pieing-in-progress
- Zaryn by local playwright Nadiya Jackson is an interactive play where audiences get to choose the ending

The elusive Pie Bandit has struck the Five Points region with a series of pieing crimes. With no time left, and wanting to deal with it quietly, you have been recruited by the Fringe Festival and a private investigator closely connected to the case to discreetly take care of this problem.

Using a unique scavenger hunt-based app, TURFHUNT, the audience will be given the list of suspects and locations to find the Pie Bandit and crack the case... but you'll have to act fast, before the villain takes out the next show in just 60 minutes!

You need to find out who the Pie Bandit is, why they want to sabotage the festival, and most importantly, where they will strike next...

Genre: Physical Theatre, Outdoor, Storytelling, Immersive

Where: Interactive performance/walking experience in RiNo / Five Points. Locations provided to ticketholders via the app.

Exploration of the Everchanging

DEVELOPED & DIRECTED BY CLARA WIEST

SubscribePast IssuesTranslate ▼

This explorative theater experience is created to be everchanging. Every performance will be different because the audience is different every time. Our experimental production is one in which the audience must reconcile with their own awareness of being a passive viewer. The piece dissects the performer-audience relationship to its core, as well as social connection through the screen. The performers engage with the audience beyond conventional means of communication and challenge the idea of cathartic reward in watching a linear narrative. Through this always honest, always truthful and always adapting piece, the performance is one that entices the audience to reconsider what they can and cannot control. The performers never pretend, they are always themselves and we invite the audience to do the same.

Genre: Devised, Theatre, Virtual, Immersive
